

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Hello Tritons,

The diving season is now quickly drawing to a close but you still have time to get in one or two final dives. On October 2nd you can dive Lake Geneva (TIC Jim Hynan) and on October 3rd you can join the Illinois Council group at Haigh Quarry for the Pumpkin Carving (TIC Pam AKA the Editor Romund). So haul out that gear for one final dunking.

With the dive season over, there are still going to be many events going on with your club. You will have the opportunity to socialize with fellow members as well as helping others in need by volunteering for the Greater Chicago Food Depository event. Check out the Events Calendar in this issue and start making your plans for the rest of this year. And, just as important, be sure to attend our business meetings. Remember, it is you, the members, who make this club work.

Our final $20 gift certificate drawings for Giuseppe's will be in October and November but you must be present to win. So, plan on being there this month. I know I will.

SEPTEMBER ENTERTAINMENT

The entertainment at the September meeting will be a video by Jim and Pat Stayer, Maldives Evening. The Stayers run Out of the Blue Productions and are regular presenters at Our World Underwater as well as many other SCUBA shows and underwater film festivals around the US and Canada.

The video gives some general information on the Maldives and the diverse and mass quantities of fish that can be found there. There is a sequence of a mass Manta Ray feeding where they are joined by a whale shark, unbelievable!! This one shouldn't be missed!

REPORT FROM THE WILLIE DIVE OF AUGUST 21st

Nine hearty Tritons made our first club-sponsored dive on the Prins Willem near Milwaukee in 2 years, it was a dive day with great conditions. Other Tritons missed the boat, literally. The lake was very flat, we had lots of room on the good ship Len-Der with only 2 other divers on board (from Jerry Guyer's dive club). It was great to see the Willie again, my favorite Great Lakes wreck. We had about 25 foot visibility, Jim Etherton's Memorial Plaque (re-created by Joe Leibovitz a few years ago) still hangs proud. The water temp made coffee unnecessary for most, but it was still adequate. We had a leisurely 2 PM shove-off. I am glad to report that we had 2 first-time Willie divers in Lee Ann Hotton and Brian Clarke. It was Associate Ron Levin's first Willie Dive with the club (he had been on it before), it was a pleasure diving with him.

Those who missed it should look for the opportunity next year – it will be there.

COME DIVE LAKE GENEVA!! SATURDAY OCTOBER 2nd

There is still room for several more divers on our last local charter dive of the year. I promise warmer waters (although you will still need a 7 mil wetsuit) and good weather. We meet at a reasonable hour (10 AM) in Williams Bay on the north shore of Lake Geneva and go do a 2-tank dive.

There isn't an easier dive from a charter boat. We tie off in about 20 feet of water and go look for treasures left from boating seasons past. Some of us also clean up the lake a little. After diving we adjourn to the house for warm food, dessert, walks to the lake and watching college football on TV. Costs are a whopping $35.00 for Triton members and associates, $45 for guests.

Our charter service, Divers Delight (Ralph and Tracy Ripple) provide tank rentals for $7 a tank. Weights are free, unless you donate them to the lake bottom. Each team needs a flag and float, state law in Wisconsin. Charter Captain Ralph will bring extras for those who have none.

Sign up at or before the September meeting. Directions and other particulars at that time.

MEXICAN INDEPENDENCE DAY

On September 5th, 36 Tritons and guests attended the Tritons Mexican Party to celebrate 5 de Mayo and Mexican Independence Day

The Guacamole contest was very successful about 12 different "Guacs"; our best guacamole prepared by David Gross "Mango Guacamole"

We had an evening of fun!

Food was good and abundant...

Mango Margaritas were good...

Scuba Loteria was fun...

Seahorse racing was pretty funny everybody was shouting "andale, andale" to their favorite seahorses
Tequila, Cerveza, Frijoles, Bonito, Mariachi and Uno.

Some of our guests wore Mexican attire and we even had a Border Patrol agent checking for green cards...

Thank you all for all the dishes you brought and your help to clean up. Special thanks to Jan O'Malley for all her help with the shopping, cooking and organizing this event...

LIONFISH TARGETED OFF FLORIDA

A series of culls of invasive lionfish has begun off the coast of Florida. The measure is being taken in response to concerns that rapidly expanding numbers of venomous Indo-Pacific red lionfish are threatening indigenous marine life. The lionfish consume both fish and invertebrate species. The problem has been developing in particular along the USA's south-eastern seaboard and through the Bahamas and Caribbean.

Sponsored by Reef Environmental Education Foundation (REEF) and the Florida Keys National Marine Sanctuary, the Floridian culls have been organized in the form of diving catch competitions. The first Keys Lionfish Derby took place just over a week ago off Key Largo. In a one-day event, 27 teams involving more than 100 divers descended to catch 534 lionfish. The winning team caught 111 lionfish and took away $1000 for their efforts.

The next Keys Lionfish Derby takes place on 16 October off Marathon. The third is on 13 November, off Key West. It is hoped that the events and resultant publicity will encourage regular fishing of the lionfish both by sport divers and by the commercial sector.

This summer the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration launched a campaign, Eat Lionfish. It is encouraging consumers to increase their consumption of lionfish which, in turn, would spur commercial harvesting. Cleaned well, the creature's white meat represents a safe and tasty morsel.

EQUIPMENT GIVE-AWAY

I am trying to find a new home for the following, in an effort to downsize at my house:

- Two 8-pound weights (hard lead, not lead shot)
- One flag + float (but not a reel)
- One weight belt with 10 pounds of lead shot on each hip (total 20 lbs)
- One Beuchat 3-mil shorty wetsuit, size Large (never been peed in, of course)

No charge for any of the above, I can bring to September meeting if you want to look or take.

ST. EUSTATIUS WARM WATER TRIP

Come Dive the Caribbean's Hidden Treasure

March 19, 2011 to March 26, 2011

If you are one of those who seek something new and also a break from our cold Chicago winters, this may be just what you are looking for. Our next warm water trip is going to be to St. Eustatius. Where the heck is St. Eustatius? I didn't know until just recently but it is in the Netherland Antilles near Saba and St. Maarten. From all the reports I have heard this is an island that has some great diving but is not that well known and thus not dove as much as other areas of the Caribbean. Here is our program for this trip.

Dates: 3/19 to 3/26/2011

Dive Operator: Golden Rock Divers

Hotel: The Old Gin Inn (near the dive shop and just south of the main town area)

What's Included: garden view or ocean view room, inter island air from St. Maarten, transfers, 7 nights hotel, taxes, breakfast and 5 days of 2 tank diving. Optional will be a 3rd afternoon dive at an additional fee.

Cost for Ocean view diver package: $1337.00/person based on double occupancy.

Cost of Garden view diver package: $1179.00/person based on double occupancy.

Park Fee: A $20.00/person Marine Park fee will need to be paid on the island and is not included in our pricing.

Deposit: $150.00/person by check payable to Global Access, Inc. and due at signup.

Final Payment date: 60 days prior to departure. I will be sending out notices to all participants with this date.

I am currently holding 2 ocean view rooms and 7 garden view rooms. Both ocean view rooms are currently reserved. I have room for a total of 18 people and 7 spots have already been reserved.

Due to the group air that is included in this package and the airline's cut off dates, I will need to have your deposit no later than 10/20/2010 in order to hold both air and a room for you. You will be responsible for arranging air from Chicago to St. Maarten. Please talk to me before reserving the air to St. Maarten so that I can be sure your air schedule will work with the air from St. Maarten. I can also help with the Chicago to St. Maarten air arrangements if you need any help. Currently, the least expensive air is on USAirways going through Philadelphia.

After 10/20/2010, I will only be able to add you to the group based on availability at the resort plus you will need to make all of your air connections on your own.

A valid passport is required and I will need your full name as shown on your passport plus your birthdate. This information is required by the reservation company for making your inter island airline reservation. Optional trip insurance is available for $75.00/person but only covers the roundtrip air from St. Maarten plus the hotel/dive package. See me for details.

If you have any questions or need further information, call or email me.

Jean-Michel Cousteau swimming with a sea turtle

Photograph by Carrie Vonderhaar/OFS

Jean-Michel Cousteau

Since the age of seven—when he was “thrown overboard,” scuba gear and all, by his famous father—Jean-Michel Cousteau has been exploring the ocean realm. The son of the legendary Jacques Cousteau, Jean-Michel has carried on the family tradition of ocean exploration and advocacy. An award-winning filmmaker, one of his documentaries helped persuade President George W. Bush to declare the Northwest Hawaiian Islands a Marine National Monument.

Most recently, Jean-Michel has written My Father, The Captain: My Life With Jacques Cousteau, published spring 2010 by National Geographic Books. Celebrating the centennial of Cousteau’s birth, the biography takes an open and intimate look at the life Jean-Michel shared with his adventurous father.

Don’t miss this heartfelt tribute to a great pioneer of exploration and conservation, and discover how Jean-Michel Cousteau is carrying on his father’s important work.

RECOVERY IN LAKE MICHIGAN

At sometime on September the 5th a co worker of Joe Leibovitz, Doug, was riding his bike on the break wall path at North Ave beach and took a unexpected swim, while he got out of the water with no injuries, his bike went for a dive to the bottom taking with it his cell phone, credit cards, cash, and his house and work keys. He told the story to co workers when he got to work on Tuesday after the Labor Day weekend.

It is now Friday Sept 10th and Joe calls me on the phone to tell me the story and wants to know what I think about doing a recovery dive with him on Saturday. I of course am up to the challenge because any excuse to get in the water is good enough for me.

Saturday morning comes and it is gloomy and rainy in the morning but no real wind, still up for the dive I get all my gear together and wait for Joe to get to my place. We got down to North Ave beach after picking up Doug at around 10am. We walked out the break wall path to where he went in to get a idea of how to get in the water and how deep the water is along with how strong the waves were. After testing the bottom area by throwing a weight attached to one of our lines in the water, we determined it to be between 10 to 13 feet deep with no large rocks in the area, back to the truck and we geared up. As we are getting geared up the day starts to bloom into the nice day it became and we make the long walk back.

We made entry into the water doing a giant stride as it was determined that a swim out from the beach would be longer and also would bring a lot more onlookers and to be honest we were not looking for attention due to conflicting reports of the legality of diving where we were. Visibility was 1 to 2 feet at best as I lost sight of Joe on descent for about 10 seconds. We both found each other quickly under water and tried to do a quick search for the bike on a free swim of the area but with the small current and the low visibility it was next to impossible to stay together and also do a good search. We determined that we should use our ropes and tie off to each other and while Joe stayed close to the wall I would be about 8 ft away from him swimming in the same direction while the rope was allowed to kind of drag the area in between us.

After searching the area going west towards the shore line we decided to turn around and search the area east, after about another 5 minutes of searching we found our target. The bike with no damage, and only the start of being covered with some algae and a couple zebra mussels was found along with all the contents of the storage pack. We then tied our ropes to the bike and threw them up to Doug so he could retrieve it by pulling it up. There happened to be some very nice people on the path that happened by when we surfaced and took some pictures of us as we came up and after we got to shore, they were kind enough to email the pictures to us. As for Joe and I we were treated to a great lunch at one of the local Pubs in the Lincoln Park area. This was more than enough for us as the thrill of actually finding the bike after 1 week was satisfaction to last us quite a while.

We found it!!!

DESTRUCTION OF GIANT ALGAE DOUGHNUT THREATENS LAKE MICHIGAN

An invasive species of mussel called quagga has recently begun eating its way through the phytoplankton population of Lake Michigan, which could have dire effects on the lake's ecosystem, scientists now warn.

"We saw that with each storm, you get a ring, and it can persist for weeks or even months," Kerfoot said.

This doughnut, in turn, feeds the entire lake. Zooplankton, tiny animals that feed on phytoplankton, thrive and are eaten by large fish, and so on - thus the doughnut helps maintain the entire food web.

But almost as soon as it was discovered, the doughnut - recognized by the signature of the plants' chlorophyll pigment that captures sunlight - started to disappear. "Since 2001, the chlorophyll has been nibbled away on the edges, right where the quaggas are," Kerfoot said.

The quagga is found in all of the Great Lakes; the invasive species was introduced by ocean-going vessels dumping ballast water. Their favorite food is phytoplankton. Hank Vanderploeg, a colleague of Kerfoot's, calculated that they consume phytoplankton at a rate that's five to seven times greater than the plants are being produced.

All the energy in the phytoplankton, which once fed fish, is now being sucked down to the bottom of the lake by quaggas. Their waste can stimulate the growth of Cladophora algae, which die, decompose and remove all the oxygen from the surrounding water.

Under such conditions, populations of zooplankton will decline, as will the alewives, chubs, Atlantic salmon, muskies, smelt, walleyes, perch and the rest of the hundred or so species of fish that inhabit Lake Michigan.

"A high percent of the fish biomass could be lost in the next couple years," Kerfoot said.

WINE TASTING AND DINNER

Sunday, November 14, 2010

Coopers' Hawk Winery and Restaurant

583 N. Milwaukee Avenue (Just South of Lake Cook Road)

Wheeling, IL

2:30 PM

We will begin with a wine tasting, sampling 8 different wines – one sparkling, three whites, three reds and one dessert wine. You will learn a bit about each type of wine they are sampling, they are all very good and some outstanding. They also change the wines from month to month so if you attended one on your own in October, November will feature different wines.

After the wine tasting for those that would like we will head into the restaurant at Cooper's Hawk for dinner. This is a nice way to spend a winter's day. We did this twice last year and each time was more popular than the last.

Cost for the wine tasting is $10.00. The dinner portion will be additional and will depend on what you order, you can visit their website:

<http://www.coopershawkinery.com/> to check out their menu and get directions if you are unsure of their location.

I need to make reservations for this event so please call me to save yourself a space at the bar.

RULES

- 1) PUMPKIN MUST BE CLEANED BEFORE ENTERING THE WATER. Bring a spoon to scoop out the inside, and newspaper to set the pumpkin on while cleaning. You might want to bring a container or baggie to place your seeds in, so that you may take them home and bake them, or feed them to your backyard wildlife.
- 2) ALL CARVING MUST BE DONE UNDERWATER. Except for opening the top and cleaning out the inside.
- 3) DIVERS MUST REMAIN IN BUDDY TEAMS. Only one prize per pumpkin. Each member of the buddy team may want to carve his/her own.
- 4) NO TIME LIMIT. However carving must be completed during one dive.
- 5) DESIGNS MAY BE DRAWN ON PUMPKIN PRIOR TO THE DIVE. Bring a Sharpie
- 6) PROPS OR ATTACHMENTS ARE ACCEPTABLE, BUT MUST BE ADDED UNDERWATER.
- 7) INTERFERING WITH ANOTHER BUDDY TEAMS PUMPKIN(S), WILL RESULT IN DISQUALIFICATION.
- 8) WEIGHTS MAY BE PLACED IN THE PUMPKIN TO HOLD IT DOWN.
- 9) DIVE KNIFE OR ANY OTHER TYPE OF CARVING TOOLS MAY BE USED. Bring whatever you need.
- 10) IF YOU PLAN TO ENTER THE CONTEST, YOU MUST HAVE YOUR PUMPKIN(S) ON THE JUDGING TABLE BY NO LATER THAN 1:30 P.M.

FINAL NOTE: You must take your pumpkin(s) home with you! These are the rules . . . If you want to change them, we invite you to host the event next year. Then you can make up your own rules, and the rest of us will be happy to follow them! After the event, photos of all entries will be posted on the ICSSD website. Organizer – Triton Scuba Club and ICSSD.

If you plan to attend, please contact Pam Romund via e-mail and she will be happy to add your name to the list. promund@Kraft.com
