

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Hello Tritons – Happy New Year!

I hope you all had a wonderful holiday season and you are looking forward to all the great events we have planned for this year. Now would be the perfect time to get out your gear and give it a quick check to see what if any servicing needs to be done before the start of the dive season. And, if you are thinking about upgrading or replacing any of your equipment, you have the perfect opportunity coming in February. Our World Underwater runs from February 17th to the 19th at the Donald E. Stephens Convention Center in Rosemont. This is the perfect place to meet with the local retailers and many of the manufacturer's reps who can help you solve any of your scuba needs.

Our club will be helping out at the Ronald McDonald House on Saturday January 28th preparing a meal for the families and patients staying at the home. There is still room for a few more volunteers so if you would like to help, please contact Pam Romund and she will let you know what help is still needed. This is a super way for us as a club to give something back to our community.

And, don't forget, we have our club elections coming up in March. The nominating committee is hard at work putting together a slate of candidates and if you would like to help move us forward, please consider running for one of the offices up for election. This year we will be voting for the offices of President, Secretary and First Director. You can contact Margy Levenberg to get your name placed on the ballot. We also need every member to be at the meeting in March to vote or if you are unable to make the meeting be sure you give your proxy to a voting member. Remember, your vote is important. We are also looking for a new Events Committee Chairperson. I would like to thank Jon Kitts our current Chair for his work this past year and wish him well as he relocates to Texas for his new job.

Finally, if you have not yet sent in your yearly club dues, please do so as soon as possible. Any member not in good standing by the January business meeting will be subject to being dropped from the club roster. If you are not planning on renewing your membership, I would strongly urge you to consider requesting inactive status. Send your request to Adolph Habich.

NEW EVENTS CHAIR NEEDED

As we reported previously, we will have to say good-bye Jon Kitts, he is being transferred with his company to Ft. Worth, Texas. This is a great opportunity and we wish them nothing but the best.

However, with Jon's departure we are in need of a new Events Chair. Anyone interested in this position please contact Randy or a member of the Board. Have questions on exactly what is involved you may contact a member of the Board or Jon for more information. The Events Chair and committee are the ones to develop an Events calendar each year. It is a mix of old favorites and some new, we hope fun, events. The chair keeps track of the events, who is running what event and makes the decision to cancel if there is little interest in an event. Check with the Board for more information.

COOKING FOR RONALD MCDONALD HOUSE

Did you know there are 383 children's hospitals in the US and 76% are supported by one or more of the Ronald McDonald Houses? Many families travel far from home to get treatment for their seriously ill or injured children. Often, it can be a long time to be away from home or to divide a family. And, for children facing a serious medical crisis, nothing seems scarier than not having their mom and dad close by for love and support.

The Ronald McDonald House program provides a "home-away-from-home" for families so they can stay close by their hospitalized child at little or no cost. The Houses are built on the simple idea that nothing else should matter when a family is focused on healing their child – not where they can afford to stay, where they will get their next meal or where they will lay their head at night to rest.

The very first event of the New Year will be a community service event, why not start your year off with a good cause? We will be cooking dinner for the residents and staff of the Ronald McDonald House in Hines IL (just behind Loyola Hospital at First Avenue and Roosevelt Road). We will provide the food, do the cooking, allowing them to eat a wonderful home-cooked meal instead of grabbing things on the run as they head back and forth to the hospitals in the area.

You don't need to be a fantastic cook to join in on the fun. We will have a menu put together, recipes to follow, and plenty of work for all. The cost of the Event is $5.00 which will be used to purchase the materials for the dinner. Anything remaining will be used to buy items to help fill their pantry.

Date: Saturday, January 28, 2012, 1:00 PM to approximately 6:00 PM

Cost: $5.00

Place: Ronald McDonald House – Hines, IL
(Behind Loyola Medical Center 1st Avenue & Roosevelt Road)

Have any old phone books lying around? Looking to get rid of them? Why not donate them to an angel? Angel is the name of Dave and Jan O'Malley's pet cockatoo. If you have any you would like to "recycle" please bring to the business meeting. Thanks!

PLANNING AHEAD

Our club is going to celebrate our 55th Anniversary in 2012, what a milestone! So what could make the occasion extra special? How about a way to share and remember all the pleasant moments, fun times and great people? If every member shares one story / pictures, with the rest of the group we can make a nice CD or DVD. Don't keep all these experiences just in your memory, share with your fellow Tritons. Send your input to: LAlonso@stepan.com Deadline February 15, 2012. Thank you, Lourdes Alanso

WINE TASTING AND DINNER
NEW VENUE: COOPER'S HAWK
ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, IL
SUNDAY, MARCH 4 (CORRECTED DAY OF WEEK)

It has been a while since we have gathered to taste some of the fruits of the vine. What a great way to lighten up the winter doldrums! We will be tasting eight wines – 3 reds, 3 whites, 1 sparkling and one dessert. We will be given the backgrounds on the wines, a little about the various types, tastes, pairings and more. Don't feel you are a wine connoisseur? Not a problem that is the beauty of the tasting. You can taste quite a few wines and determine what it is you like.

After we conclude the wine tasting we will adjourn to their restaurant for perhaps more wine and something to eat. Cooper's Hawk has a varied menu from burgers and sandwiches, salads, fish, steak and other fantastic choices. The cost of the dinner is not included in the price of the wine tasting.

I don't have the pricing for the tasting as yet since the Arlington Heights location isn't open for business as yet. But I would guess it will be in the $10.00 or under range. I will have all the details at the January business meeting.

WORLD-FIRST HYBRID SHARK FOUND OFF AUSTRALIA

Scientists said on Tuesday that they had discovered the world's first hybrid sharks in Australian waters, a potential sign the predators were adapting to cope with climate change.

The mating of the local Australian black-tip shark with its global counterpart, the common black-tip, was an unprecedented discovery with implications for the entire shark world, said lead researcher Jess Morgan.

"It's very surprising because no one's ever seen shark hybrids before, this is not a common occurrence by any stretch of the imagination," Morgan, from the University of Queensland, told AFP. "This is evolution in action."

Colin Simpfendorfer, a partner in Morgan's research from James Cook University, said initial studies suggested the hybrid species was relatively robust, with a number of generations discovered across 57 specimens.

The find was made during cataloguing work off Australia's east coast when Morgan said genetic testing showed certain sharks to be one species when physically they looked to be another.

The Australian black-tip is slightly smaller than its common cousin and can only live in tropical waters, but its hybrid offspring have been found 2,000 kilometres down the coast, in cooler seas.

It means the Australian black-tip could be adapting to ensure its survival as sea temperatures change because of global warming.

"If it hybridises with the common species it can effectively shift its range further south into cooler waters, so the effect of this hybridising is a range expansion," Morgan said.

"It's enabled a species restricted to the tropics to move into temperate waters."

Climate change and human fishing are some of the potential triggers being investigated by the team, with further genetic mapping also planned to examine whether it was an ancient process just discovered or a more recent phenomenon.

If the hybrid was found to be stronger than its parent species -- a literal survival of the fittest -- Simpfendorfer said it may eventually outlast its so-called pure-bred predecessors.

"We don't know whether that's the case here, but certainly we know that they are viable, they reproduce and that there are multiple generations of hybrids now that we can see from the genetic roadmap that we've generated from these animals," he said. "Certainly it appears that they are fairly fit individuals."

The hybrids were extraordinarily abundant, accounting for up to 20 percent of black-tip populations in some areas, but Morgan said that didn't appear to be at the expense of their single-breed parents, adding to the mystery.

Simpfendorfer said the study, published late last month in Conservation Genetics, could challenge traditional ideas of how sharks had and were continuing to evolve.

"We thought we understood how species of sharks have separated, but what this is telling us is that in reality we probably don't fully understand the mechanisms that keep species of shark separate," he said.

"And in fact, this may be happening in more species than these two."

Many thanks to Pete Kennedy for sending this to our attention, reprinted from:
<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/sciencetech/article-2077123/Now-thats-just-bad-design-Not-whales-surface-breathe-bends-just-like-human-divers.html>, article by Rob Waugh, December 21, 2001

NOW THAT'S JUST BAD LUCK: NOT ONLY DO WHALES HAVE TO SURFACE TO BREATHE, THEY CAN GET 'THE BENDS' JUST LIKE HUMAN DIVERS

For the first time, whales and seals have been found to suffer from 'the bends' - the crippling 'decompression' sickness divers suffer when they surface too quickly.

The sickness is caused by nitrogen bubbles forming in the bloodstream when divers move from a high-pressure undersea environment - causing disorientation, pain, skin rashes, and even, in extreme cases, death.

A new study by scientists at the University of St Andrews found evidence for bubbles forming in the bodies of whales and seals - hinting that they suffer too. For the first time, whales and seals have been found to suffer from 'the bends' - the crippling 'decompression' sickness divers suffer when they surface too quickly

The research also suggests that excessive human noise - such as exposure to military sonar - might disorient whales and seals, leading to them losing their natural defences against the disease.

Lead researcher Dr Sascha Hooker of the University of St Andrews said: 'Decompression sickness, commonly known as 'the bends' is a serious problem for human divers, but the jury has been out as to whether marine mammals could get the bends or if it would be as serious for them. '

'Unfortunately the technology doesn't yet exist to measure what is going on physiologically inside a free-living whale during its descent to depths of over 1000 metres. 'However, our review of recent work on marine mammal diving physiology leads us to the conclusion that they could suffer from the bends in the same way that humans do.'

The clue to 'the bends' taking hold is the appearance of bubbles in the bodies of marine mammals. Bubbles are caused by pressure-induced increases in nitrogen levels in the blood and body tissues, followed by depressurisation that causes nitrogen to come out as bubbles - like the 'fizz' that occurs in a can of carbonated drink when it's opened.

Their research examined various evidence, including bubbles in the major organs of beached whales that had beached following exposure to sonar; bubbles in the kidney and liver region of mass stranded dolphins, and bubbles in the tissues of dolphins and seals caught by accident at sea.

'Our findings change the way we think about how marine mammals manage the problems of pressure when deep sea diving' said Dr Hooker. 'The textbooks tell us that seals and whales can tolerate deep dives and rapid ascent without developing the nitrogen load that might lead to the bends. One concern is that these naturally evolving mechanisms may be stretched by human pressures.

'An apparent threat to these animals, such as sudden high levels of noise, could cause them to react; altering their dive trajectory or eliciting a fight-or-flight response - that causes them to exceed their normal coping mechanisms for the prevention of the bends. Excessive human noise or disturbance may cause a marine mammal to change its diving behavior in ways that result in serious illness or injury

NEW YEAR'S EVE BOWLING!

Thank you for helping bring in the NEW Year with a Lots of Strikes & an abundance of Spares.

The evening went quite nice with lots of laughs & great camaraderie with "pinch" bowlers and NO fatalities.

I trust you all arrived at your designations safely and were able to spend a lot of time doing nothing on Sunday.

If you had such a great time tell your friends about this and maybe in 2012-2013 we can get 3 or more alleys filled. In the event that the world does come to an end on 12/21/2012 maybe we should plan this bowling venture earlier in the year.
